CONSUMPTION.

Owing to a popular idea that a remedy said to cure a variety of maladies should be tested with edition, it not suspicion, the inventor hesitated some time in placing it before the public, but in the gratifying assurances by a great number of the restoration and health renewing properties of his preparation of Hypophosphites, under a variety of circumstances, he is equally satisfied that these effects are secured by its use, that its action is regular to his preparation, and that CONSUMPTION is not only CURABLE, but up to certain stages, is as easily controlled as most other organic diseases.

* * * *

While it is the aim of the inventor to convey information to such as require his Hypophosphites, in the firm belief that its use will be valuable to all who desire a long life or who are struggling for health

With a truth based upon the experience of twelve years he would not despair of restoring a patient suffering from the above named disease, even though it be in a very low state and not complicated by actual organic lo s

FLINT, MICH., May 10th, 1880

DEAR SIR:—Allow me to say this I esteem your Hypophosphites most highly, and for those engaged in professions which draw largely on the nervous system it is invaluable. I have used it in all with the most satisfactory results and have introduced it to a large number of my people

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that ever gain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use,

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

The MASSACHUSETTS MUTUAL is chartered by a State whose Life Insurance Companies have never failed to pay 100 cents on a dollar of honest liability. While it is an economical and conservative company, it also pushes and progresses.

Its policies, protected by the non-forfeiture law of Massachusetts, offer the most desirable forms of life insurance contract.

Parties should at least examine the equitable features of the new non-forfeiture law, and the inducements offered by the Massachusetts Mutual, before insuring their lives

Hancock.

The Augusta Journal says that Angee Bartlett, of Ellsworth, was obliged by reasons of fortune to earn her living. She tried teaching, but the pay was too meagre. Then she came to Augusta to do housework A rich uncle, who admired the young lady's spunk, improved his opportunity and has just "shuffled off his mortal coil." He has left a fortune of $20,000 to his enterprising niece who has resigned her position and gone home.

Kennebec.

Mr. Hall C Burleigh, of Fairfield, will move to Vassalboro, where he will take charge of Mr. Bodwell's stock farm The thoroughbred stock recently imported from England by the latter gentleman, are still in quarantine at Hallowell.

Dr. Roberts, of Vassalboro, has sold a half interest in his valuable stallion to Boston parties.

Oxford.

The Argus says that the Frye boys at North Fryeburg, are having an unprecedented flow of sap from their maple orchard. They tapped two weeks ago and have gathered 250 barrels of sap which will make over five barrels of sugar.

Samuel Charles died very suddenly at his residence in Fryeburg, Sunday morning. He came in from the barn and seating himself, complained of feeling unwell, and expired.

A new post office has been established at Norway Lake. J. L. Partridge is the postmaster.

Somerset.

More particulars in relation to the horrible death of Miss Eliza Gowell, of Bowdoin: She occupied a part of the house with her brother, William Gowell. She had left her brother's room about ten or fifteen minutes previous to the alarm. It is supposed that in replenishing her fire the clothes caught. When found she was clutching a table, bereft of all clothing, resembling more a bronze statue than a human being. Dr. Irish was called, and all was done that could be to relieve her suffering. She lingered about four hours, when death came to her relief.

The Times says over $12,000 was collected at the Bath Custom House during the month of March. The force employed in the revenue department at this port, besides the collector, consists of a deputy collector and two inspectors in Bath, one inspector and boarding officer at Georgetown, one inspector at Gardiner and one at Moose River. The total compensation of the collector and his six subordinates for the year 1880, was less than $8,000.

Somerset.

Skowhegan: Court adjourned late Saturday night, after a session of seventeen working days. A very busy term. In every case tried this term, with three exceptions, the defeated parties carry them to the law court. The most important case tried was that brought by Mrs. Burke against the town of Solon, for injuries claimed to have been received upon the highway ——Two of Somerset's citizens, L. H Webb, Esq., and Wm. B Longley, Esq., were admitted to practice as attorneys.——Workmen have already begun to make repairs upon the "Star" store, which was so badly damaged by the recent fire; the two buildings wholly destroyed are to be soon replaced by a brick block ——Apples are scarce, but maple sugar and molasses can be found in abundance ——It is just now quite sickly.——Baked-bean dinners are the rage nowadays. Last week the Methodist people had one,—beans baked army fashion, and this week the Congregationalist people had one on Wednesday ——The Christian church here is at present without a pastor. ——At a special town meeting to fill a vacancy in the office of 2d selectman, caused by the resignation of Charles A Marston, on account of ill health, Gen. Isaac Dyer was elected.

Washington.

The Union says that master river drivers were selecting men and making up crews for log driving on Machias and its branches last week. Some days the streets in Machias were lined with men, most of them strangers. A noticeable feature was quite a large number of the Passamaquoddy tribe of Indians were seeking work as river drivers or hands in boats or on booms.

York.

The Saco Times says that the city debt of Saco is $45,330 05.

Mrs. Elizabeth Libby, of Eliot, mother of Orlando T. Libby, who served in Co. D, 5th New Hampshire Volunteers, during the rebellion, has been granted a pension of $8 a month from the date of the death of her son, June 1, 1862. Deceased's company was commanded by Capt. John Murray.

AN INTERESTING STORY--A HOPELESS CASE CURED--A GOOD REASON FOR HAPPINESS.

Statement of Mr. Washington Monroe, of Catskill Green County, New York.

"For many years I had suffered from a complaint which the physicians called Gravel. I had employed some of the most noted doctors without obtaining any permanent relief, and for a long time my case was regarded as hopeless. All who knew the circumstances said I must die. Finally, my wife induced me to try a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy' which she had somewhere heard of or seen advertised. Without the slightest faith in it, but solely to gratify her, I bought a bottle of a druggist in our village. I used that and two or three bottles more, and—to make a long story short—I am now as healthy a man as there is in the country.

Since then I have recommended "Favorite Remedy" to others whom I know to have suffered from Kidney and Liver complaints, and, I assure the public, that the 'Favorite Remedy' has done its work with a similar completeness in every single instance, and I trust some other sick and discouraged mortal may hear of it and try the 'Favorite Remedy,' as I did."

"THE PRESIDENT SHALL NOMINATE,"

[From the N. Y. Tribune].

Below the question immediately involved in the controversy over the New York Collectorship—that of whether Judge Robertson or some other person more agreeable to Senator Conkling shall manage the Custom House in this city—lies one of much broader scope and greater importance, which touches closely one of the chief functions of the Executive. The Constitution says that "the President shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate shall appoint" all public officers whose appointment is not otherwise provided for by the Constitution itself or by the laws of Congress. To nominate is to select and name, and the act of nomination is purely an executive one, which the President is authorized, to perform independent of the dictation or advice of any person whatever. The appointment requires the advice and consent of the Senate, which is signified to the President by the vote of that body on the nomination. A theory has grown up of late years that the members of the Senate belonging to the dominant party should select the men to hold the important offices, in their respective States, and hand in their names to the President, he performing only the functions of an executive clerk in filling out the nomination papers. This theory received a severe blow during Mr. Hayes' Administration, but it has considerable vitality left, and its advocates are making a good deal of noise at Washington. To listen to their talk, one would think that the printed text of the Constitution had somehow got turned around, and that the genuine reading should be "The Senators shall nominate, and by "and with the consent of the President "appoint." Their pretensions amount to nothing short of this, for they assert that it is an encroachment on the privileges of Senators for the President to act on his own judgment in making a nomination when his judgment happens not to agree with theirs. It is even gravely proposed in the lobbies and cloak-rooms of the Senate Chamber that a sort of Senatorial ring shall be formed to vote to reject every nomination not made upon the recommendation of a Senator from the State where the office to be filled is located.

This sort of talk, we are bound to believe, grows out of nothing more serious than personal pique and disappointment. No Senator who knows the first principles of our system of government will contend that he has a right to dictate nominations or to feel aggrieved if his advice is not in all cases followed by the President. In a contest between the President and the Senate over a question involving the right of the President to do what the Constitution says he shall do, the popular sympathy would be overwhelmingly on his side. We do not believe any such contest is going to arise. A few impetuous, arrogant men may threaten an attack on the Administration, but the great majority of the members of the Senate have not the slightest disposition to put themselves in an absurd and unpopular attitude by an attempt to usurp the constitutional functions of the Executive.

It does not follow, however, that because President Garfield insists upon his right to exercise his independent judgment in making nominations he is going to cut loose from the Senators and Representatives of his own party and run the vast machinery of the executive office without the aid of their advice. He knows very well the value of their counsel respecting persons and politics, in their States and Districts. Nine-tenths of his appointees will be men who are total strangers to him. He must take the word of somebody concerning their qualifications, and in most cases he will naturally incline to act on the advice of the Senator or Representative who knows the applicants and has an interest in the selection of a worthy and popular man. But advice is one thing and dictation another. The time has gone by when public offices were parcelled out to members of the legislative branch of the Government as their personal perquisite, to be distributed among their friends or used to strengthen political rings and machines. The country hopes that time will never return, and is quite certain it will not return during the next four years. No doubt a large majority of President Garfield's appointments will be made in accordance with the advice of Republican Senators or Representatives. In cases where he does not follow such advice, however, and finds in his own wide knowledge of men and politics throughout the Union a better guide for his judgment, no one has just ground for complaint. His first duty, it should always be borne in mind, is to satisfy himself in making nominations, for the responsibility comes upon him, and by the character and fitness of his appointees his Administration will largely be judged.

THE POPULAR VERDICT.

[From the Albany Evening Journal, Rep.]

There are few men who can turn a compliment more neatly than Senator Madden. He was absent yesterday when the vote was taken on the resolution complimentary to Judge Robertson, but on his return to his seat asked to have his name recorded in the affirmative. In doing so he said that Senator Robertson had been his political guide all his life, and closed by saying: "Among all my friends in the Republican party, there is no man, be he 'half-breed' or 'stalwart,' whose nomination for Collector would give me so much pleasure as that of Senator Robertson." And this is the popular verdict. It is impugning the patriotism and good sense of either of our Senators at Washington to assume that they will not be found in prompt and hearty accord with this clearly defined and emphatically expressed popular sentiment.

HITTING THE NAIL ON THE HEAD.

[From the Louisville Courier Journal (Dem.).]

As the debate in the Senate proceeds the Democrats are put more and more in a false position. The refusal to permit the constitutional majority to complete the work of organization rests upon nothing more substantial than personal good-will for a few officials who may be embarrassed by the change. The country does not sympathize with this amiable sentiment. The longing of Senators after vainglorious personal display should be subordinated to great public uses. It is a truly regretful circumstance that this is not the experience of the hour, and consequently, we greatly apprehend that we shall lose the advantages which belong to the situation, and which would otherwise accrue to us.

A SOUTHERN DEMOCRATIC JOURNAL IMPORSES MAHONE.

[From the Vicksburg Herald (Dem.).]

There can be no doubt now that the attack on Mahone was not justified by his course. There can be no doubt that he is true to the combination that elected him, and it was a grave blunder on the part of the Democrats to attack him. He has not only shown there was no ground for it, he has attacked those who attacked him with telling effect. He was given an opportunity such as few get even in the Senate of the United States, and he made splendid use of it. He has demonstrated that he is fully able to take care of himself and henceforth he will occupy a prominent and influential place in American politics. Millions of Southerners will glory in his spunk, for he is the first Southern man who successfully resisted Southern bulldozers and taught them a lesson. He is the pioneer of tolerance in the South, and the able advocate of manhood suffrage, that is as certain as the sun shines to win in the end.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Voorhees apparently delays to wallow in the gore of Mahone.

The Republican press of this State is practically solid for Garfield and Robertson, and the party is overwhelmingly on the side of the press.—Tribune.

Senator Mitchell, of Pennsylvania, is mentioned as "the statue of a Roman gladiator Americanized." Abundant locks and eyes of twinkling hazel complete the list of his attractions.

The Baroness Burdett-Coutts has not had typhus fever, as was at first supposed by Sir William Gull; her illness is said to have arisen from the mental strain to which she has been exposed for several years.

Senator Miller, of California, has a full, bold forehead, crowned with dark hair. One eye he lost in battle, and the same wound scarred his cheek, but spectacles, skillfully worn, nearly conceal the wound.

Queen Victoria is about to purchase the famous historical estate of Stoke Park. She went through the mansion the other day with her daughter Beatrice and was greatly pleased with it. The price set is $1,250,000.

M. Cabanel intends to send to the Salon this year two pictures—a portrait of Mrs. J. W. Mackey and a painting of the scene of the three caskets from "The Merchant of Venice." The moment represented is that in which the happy Bassanio opens the casket of lead.

It is a thrilling spectacle to see Voorhees, the windiest advocate of cheap and nasty money which the inflation epoch produced, denouncing Mahone as a repudiator. Voorhees was in favor of repudiating a part of the National debt, and nobody who has followed his political course will deny that he would have voted for the repudiation of the whole of that debt had such a thing been attempted.

Ben Hill has not denied anything new for several days. He is not doing himself justice. Wade Hampton is a long way ahead of him. Hampton made a speech. Then he denied the denial, and charged it to Stilson Hutchins. Then he denied that he charged the denial of the denial upon Hutchins. Then he retired from the field with the declaration that he was "perplexed and almost discouraged." Hill has a hard task ahead of him to eclipse this record, but he has begun well and if he makes sufficient effort he is sure to come out victorious. It's in him.

Mr. Spurgeon's health is improving, the effects of his last rheumatic attack fast disappearing. "Again and again," he writes, "I have almost reached the desired haven, and each time I have been driven out upon the sea of pain by another blast from the tempest of disease. God has blessed the Baptists in London, and if they do not grow it will be their own fault. Everything which tends to multiply places for the preaching of the Gospel is a joy to us all. See, then, to this matter. I am deeply grateful for your prayers. You hardly know how much I need them, for my pains have at times been overpowering, and I have needed Divine succor to come through them. A little longer, and it will be all over."

This improvement is valuable and can best be appreciated by housekeepers. All articles can be seen while in progress of baking or roasting, without opening the oven door thereby preventing a loss from escaping and all kinds of pastry and cake from falling, and insuring a perfection in roasting meats and poultry. The glass is 9 inch heat French plate and capable of withstanding intense heat without injury, while no smoke or steam can obstruct the view from the oven. The glass is in a frame which is attached inside of the door and can be removed with no danger of breaking. We would call attention to the many and valuable improvements we have added to the

Statement of Mr. Washington Monroe, of Cass Green County, New York.

"For many years I had suffered from complaint which the physicians called Gravel. I employed some of the most noted doctors in obtaining any permanent relief, and for a long time my case was regarded as hopeless. As I know the circumstances said I must die. Finally my wife induced me to try a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy' which she had seen or heard of or seen advertised. Without the slightest faith in it, but solely to regard her request a bottle of a druggist in our village. I took it and two or three bottles more, and to make a long story short—I am now as healthy a man as there is in the country.

Since then I have recommended "Favorite Remedy" to others whom I knew to have suffered as Kidney and Liver complaints; and, I assure the public, that the 'Favorite Remedy' has done a work with a similar completeness in every case instance, and I trust some other sick and discouraged mortal may hear of it and try the 'Favorite Remedy,' as I did."

MAINE NEWS.

FROM PORTLAND.

The Geneva Award.

PORTLAND, April 7. The Portland Board of Trade this morning adopted a resolution urging Congress to distribute the balance of the Geneva award to those who had lost vessels and cargoes by the depredations of the Confederate cruisers or by paying extra war insurance.

The steamship Brooklyn, of the Dominion line, cleared for Liverpool this afternoon, and will sail at once.

FIRE RECORD.

Buildings Burned in Connecticut—A Man Perishes in the Flames.

NEW CANAAN, Conn., April 7. The dwelling and seven other buildings of Stephen Hoyt's Sons' nursery were burned last night. Thos. Gray was burned to death. The books, spring orders and many thousand dollars worth of nursery stock stored in the cellars were destroyed. Partially insured.

Fire in Leadville Mines.

LEADVILLE, Col., April 7. The fire in the Fryer Hill mines which has been smouldering for weeks broke out anew yesterday between the Little Pittsburg and the Carboniferous and is raging furiously, necessitating a stoppage of all work in the immediate vicinity and throwing over 100 men out of employment.—Preparations are making to rush steam into the drifts and smother the flames.

ARMY OF TENNESSEE.

Proceedings at the Reunion at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, April 7. Col. Pond delivered an oration to the Army of the Tennessee last evening after which ex-President Hayes thanked the society in behalf of the county of Gen. McPherson's birth for the monument of that hero. Short speeches were made by Gens. Sheridan, Pope, Cox, Leggett, Belknap and Judge Taft and others.

The society of the Army of Tennessee at its business to-day re-elected Gen. Sherman, President; Col. Dayton, Recording Secretary, and Gen. Force, Treasurer. St. Louis was chosen as the place for the next meeting on May 10th and 11th, 1882. Col. Williamson was chosen Orator. Gen. Sherman read a long paper on military discipline. There will be a reception at Col. Dayton's this afternoon and a banquet to-night will close the reunion.

Speech of Ex-President Hayes.

The first toast at the banquet was "The United States." The response was by ex-President Hayes who said: "One of the most eloquent and best known speeches of Mr. Clay was in response to the war of 1812, in reply to the question, 'What have we gained by the war?' If the same question is asked in relation to the great contest of 1861, no eloquence is required to give emphasis to the answer. The sufficient reply is found in the single phrase of the sentiment just announced. If it is asked, what have we gained by the war for the Union? the answer must be, our gain is the United States. How large a part of that exalts our patriotic pride when we look at the present condition of our country and think of its future as the fruit of the war of 1861. The war established not only that the people of the United States are one people, but they are a free people; all of whom have equal rights, and that their government is supreme within its sphere on every acre of American soil, but it also gave to intelligent men at home and abroad a confidence in the stability of our institutions and in the capacity of our people for self-government which is working and has already brought changes in this country and throughout the world. Mr. Hayes continued at some length to extol patriotically the condition of our Government and the payment of the national debt, and in conclusion said: Can we not confidently believe that the United States is not only prosperous and powerful, but also a wiser people because of the war. I believe that all of our countrymen and all the world besides have many added reasons in the results of the war for gratefully invoking blessings upon the United States.

MARINE RECORD.

PORTLAND, April 7. Capt. Scott, of the steamship Lake Manitoba, reports that on March 27, at 1 o'clock P. M., he boarded the abandoned ship Jamestown, of Boston, timber laden and waterlogged, with seventeen feet of water in her hold. Her rudder was gone; her masts were standing but badly cut. Most of her yards were gone or hanging over the sides. He tried to tow her in but both hawsers broke. He tried again by making fast alongside but all the hawsers parted. It was then concluded that it was impossible to tow her without some steering apparatus, and night falling she was abandoned.

AN IMPORTANT ARREST.

A Notorious Robber and Forger Captured.

NEW YORK, April 6. Andrew Roberts, a notorious forger, has been arrested here, charged with numerous forgeries. For some time past suburban banks have been victimized to a considerable extent by a system of check forgeries. Roberts is a very daring criminal. He was once arrested for robbing a mail car in Connecticut. With his companions he took possession of the car, threw the safe out and afterward plundered it at leisure. His capture leaves only Wm. Bartlett at large of that most notorious band of forgers of which Wiles, Byrnes and Shell Hamilton were recently arrested in Florence, Italy, for complicity in the great scheme of robbery, in connection with letters of credit of American travelers. Four of the band were arrested and sent to prison on their return to this country.

NEW YORK.

ALBANY, April 7. The Assembly this afternoon passed the New York street cleaning bill, giving the Mayor power to nominate a Board of Health and Superintendent, and that Board of Health shall act upon the nomination within ten days.

Sale of a Guttenberg Bible.

At the auction sale to-night of the Brice collection of books, Guttenberg's Bible was knocked down to Hamilton Cole for $8,000.

MASSACHUSETTS.

New England Methodist Conference.

WORCESTER, April 7. A large audience was present at the opening of the session of the New England Methodist Conference this morning.

The morning prayer meeting was led by Rev. L. B. Bates.

Drs. Crowell and Thayer spoke of the encouraging condition of Lynn and Boston districts, respectively.

Rev. Mr. Rogers gave a fine report of the North Boston district, in which $90,000 indebtedness has been cancelled, leaving a debt of only about $100,000 upon the district.

Rev. Mr. Elas' report of the Springfield district indicated a marked prosperity. The societies are characterized by general financial prosperity.

The names of all the members of the Conference were called over in open session, the Bishop pausing at each name to hear any complaint that might be made against them, if any existed; but not a breath was spoken against any one. Some excitement was caused by the resolutions offered by Rev. Mr. Chadbourne denouncing theatre-going on the part of the young local preachers and candidates for the ministry, raising at once suspicion that the practice alluded to was becoming quite prevalent in some quarters, and it was more than intimated that some members of the Conference were implicated in this matter. A committee was finally appointed to consider and report on the subject. Their report will be awaited with interest.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Endorsing the Course of Republican Senators.

HARRISBURG, April 7. A resolution endorsing the course of the Republicans in the United States Senate passed in the House by 100 to 2, the Democrats refusing to vote.

THE FLOODS IN THE WEST.

The Situation Serious.

SCARCITY OF FUEL AND PROVISIONS.

YANKTON, April 7. The ice gorge here broke last night and the water is falling rapidly.

Lower Yankton has been submerged since Monday morning and the lower floors of two hundred dwellings, shops and mills are covered from one to four feet in depth. Much damage has been done to houses, goods and buildings.

Steamer Peninah broke from her moorings as the ice moved and floated a mile, lodging on the railroad track.

Intelligence from the submerged farming districts states that rescuing parties have found and landed in places of safety about 200 persons who otherwise would have perished with cold and hunger.

The good work still progresses and hopes are entertained that nearly all the ice and water bound sufferers will be rescued.

The weather is cold and the situation more serious. The daily fuel supply is reduced to a minimum and many kinds of provisions are running short.

The freshet swept away thousands of cords of wood and to-day not a single cord is for sale in this market.

FORTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

Special Session of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 7.

The Vice President laid a message from the President transmitting, in response to the resolution of the Senate of the 18th ult., the report of the Secretary of State with accompanying papers, in relation to the capitulation of the Ottoman Empire. Ordered printed.

The resolution for the election of Senate officers was taken up and a motion to go into executive session, made by Mr. Pendleton, was voted down—yeas 29, nays 30.

Mr. Vance discussed the subject of the State debt of North Carolina denying that the debt had ever been repudiated.

Mr. Vance said that from the day that the citizen of North Carolina had recovered the control of the State, instead of trying to pay the debt created by the carpet bag government and placed upon them in a fraudulent manner they had resolutely turned their backs upon it. They had never tried to pay it and they never would. It was fraudulent, it was vicious, it was not a debt in any sense of the word. Mr. Vance denounced Riddleberger as an unrepentant rebel and an unrepentant Democrat, and an unrepentant readjuster, and said Riddleberger had been taken up in his sins unrepentant and unshriven, and had been translated into the heaven of Republicanism without having fasted of death. (Laughter.)

A discussion arose between the North Carolina Senators and Mr. Kellogg in reference to the North Carolina debt. Senator Ransom denied that the State had repudiated any part of its just debts and insisted that the 4 per cent. bonds of the State were now selling at 80 proved that her credit was untouched by these slanders.

Mr. Rollins said that the gentleman on the other side was shocked at the idea that the Republicans should dare to give a vote for a Readjuster in Virginia who was with them on questions of a free vote and an honest count.

Mr. Vance—What difference is there between counting a man out of his vote and out of his money?

Mr. Rollins—You have tried both and ought to be able to answer that question yourself. (Laughter.)

Mr. Vance—I have not tried both. I have not tried either. My State has not tried either. The assertion was witty but lacked truth.

Mr. Dawes inquired if the fact that a government had deprived a Senator and his co-adjustors of the power of making slaves work for nothing, was any reason why North Carolina should pay only 50 cents on a dollar of her debt.

Mr. Vance replied, by inquiring if the ancestors of the Senator from Massachusetts had not brought slaves into this country in ships paid for by the people of Massachusetts.

Mr. Dawes—Is that any reason why you should cheat your honest creditors.

Mr. Rollins resuming the floor said that the Senators on the other side would have been very willing to have received Mahone's vote.

Mr. Hill, of Georgia—But we would not have bought it.

Mr. Rollins—You waited on him and tried to make a treaty, but could not do it.

Mr. Saulsbury had no doubt that there were good people in New England, but when the Senators from that section assumed the prerogative of lecturing other people in regard to morality and political sins they ought to look at their own records. He had this morning picked by a little volume of poems by Whittier which related the early traditions of the people of Massachusetts and it detailed how they persecuted poor Quakers.

From that day to the present there had been a persecuting spirit manifested by New Englanders to their brethren in other parts of the country. He presumed that the New England Senators, if disposed to look around their own doors of ills, could find objects that demanded their attention. But their charity was of that broad kind that looked away from home to see what it could do for people of other sections. In the past year there had been six hundred divorces granted in New England; two hundred being in Massachusetts. Before the Senators from Massachusetts took hold of the readjustment of State debts they had better readjust their marriage relation in their own State. If he lived in New England he should be afraid to enter into that relation. The Senator from Massachusetts (Hoar) had several times quoted, "Beware of the leaven of the Pharisee which is hypocrisy;" he (Saulsbury) would like to inquire whether the Pharisee was not that man who, preaching fidelity to public trust, was seeking an alliance to encourage repudiation in the Southern States. When he heard a man crying out for a free vote and a fair count, who had sat upon the Electoral Commission and cast out the 10,000 votes of Louisiana, he should be apt to quote a passage of Scripture, "Beware of the leaven of the Pharisee which is hypocrisy." (Laughter.)

Mr. Call challenged any Republican Senator to produce any evidence to prove that there had been either intolerance, ostracism or violence of any kind on account of political opinions, in a Southern State. He went into an exhaustive history of the carpet-bag governments. He was frequently interrupted by Mr. Blair, who asserted that the carpet-bag goverments had assisted materially the prosperity of the South. Mr. Call denied that the right of suffrage was restricted in the South, and criticised the laws which in Massachusetts did restrict that right. He also charged that many voters in that State had been deprived of a free ballot by the influence of money and by the influence of corporations.

This brought Messrs. Dawes and Hoar to their feet in emphatic denial of the existence of any such state of facts and a long discussion ensued, the Massachusetts Senators holding that no man in that State was deprived of his right of suffrage but by his own choice, and Mr. Call contending that the elections in the Southern States were fairer and freer than those held in Massachusetts.

At the end of this discussion the Senate adjourned until Monday—yeas 23, nays 16, the negative vote being cast by the Democrats.

PORK PRODUCTS.

The Stock on Hand March 31st.

CINCINNATI, April 7. The Price Current publishes its annual statement of the stock of provisions in the country March 1st, embracing the stocks at all interior packing points and large cities and in transit, showing an aggregate of 414,225,000 pounds of meat, including pork, or 54,400,000 pounds less than at the same time last year.

The stock of lard is 86,425,000 pounds, or 78,890,000 pounds less than a year ago.

This makes an aggregate decrease of 134,290,000 pounds of products, equal to a product of 760,000 hogs.

The packing in the West since March 1st is reported at 385,000 pounds to date, against 700,000 pounds last year.

INDIANA.

Women Given the Right to Vote at All State Elections.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 7. The House this morning passed a joint resolution amending the constitution giving women the right to vote at all State elections.

A BLACKMAILER SHOT

Dead by a Detective.

NEW YORK, April 7. The man who was shot dead to-day by Detective Campbell, proved to be Edward Herrman Sagert, and the offence for which his arrest was sought was an extensive blackmailing scheme, the details of which are made public to-night. Louis Strasburger, a wealthy Hebrew of the firm of Louis Strasburger & Co., importers of watches, received anonymous communications demanding $60,000 and threatening to kill him unless it was paid. His family have been repeatedly subjected to similar letters demanding large sums and purporting to come from members of the Nihilist Society, who had condemned Strasburger to death. Strasburger placed the matter in the hands of the police who directed that the mode of conveying money to the blackmailers, which they themselves pointed out, be followed. This was done to-day and Sagert, who was on hand to receive it, was seen by Detective Campbell who had been stationed there for the purpose. On seeking to arrest Sagert the latter attempted to draw a revolver, threatening to blow the officer's brains out, when Campbell shot him dead. Albert F. Vogt, a picture dealer, was to-night arrested as an accomplice. He admits his guilt.

NEW YORK, April 7. The Graphic says that the Western Union Telegraph management say that the company is earning full dividends upon its new capital and that the service lately has been vastly improved. FOREIGN NEWS.

Various Matters.

VIENNA, April 7. The river Theiss, in Hungary, overflowed and 1000 acres of wheat was destroyed.

ATHENS, April 7. It is generally believed that the Government secretly does not mean war but the popular feeling is unflinching and the army is eager for war which must break out unless the Powers apply an effective presure to prevent it.

LONDON, April 7. The News, alluding to the premature publication of the Land bill, says: "We believe the bill will consist of seven parts. The statement that the Bright clauses of the act of 1870 will be dealt with in a subsidiary bill will include a scheme not merely for the setting of the Bright clauses at work but for more effectively accomplishing the purpose to which they directed. A Land Commission is also established by the bill which will be a complete scheme for dealing with the land law."

Beaconsfield had a very serious attack of spasms during the night owing to a chill; but was rallied toward morning. The physicians state that he is very seriously ill and they are in constant attendance.

A later bulletin at 7 o'clock announces a great change for the better in Beaconsfield: The patient is free from spasms and there is now no fear of a fatal termination to the severe attack of the night.

The Russian Grand Duke, Nicholas Constantinovitch, formerly notorious in connection with a theft of diamonds, was arrested, Tuesday night, in the village of Sublino, on railway to Moscow, and interred in a castle belonging to his father, the Grand Duke Constantine, a brother of the late Czar, near St. Petersburg, on suspicion of being concerned in the political intrigues in favor of his father. It is not whether the latter was privy to the intrigues.

In the House of Commons, Gladstone rose to introduce the land bill. He was much cheered. The House was exceedingly crowded. Gladstone said the bill would deal both with the relations between landlord and tenant and subjects which may be grouped as requiring advancement from the Echequer.

In presenting the land bill, which he did in a three hours speech, Gladstone concluded as follows: "Justice is to be the principle to guide England in regard to Ireland." The bill was then read the first time.

The Irish members met directly after Gladstone's speech was delivered. The general opinion was that if the bill passed there would be little cause left for complaint on the part of Ireland. Fears are expressed that the House of Lords might alter the bill.

PARIS, April 7. In the Senate, M. Magnin, Minister of Finances, declared that France, the United States, Netherlands, Italy and Spain, agree upon the principle of double standard bi-metalism making progress in Germany. Public opinion in Belgium is in favor of it, and the Chamber of Commerce, in England, had made declarations in a similar sense. The adhesion of England might still be hoped for and that would remove all obstacles. The object of the conference would be to establish international monetary regulations. France would support the bi-metalism.

ACCIDENT. Wednesday, Daniel Carter, of Levant, was watering his horses at the foot of Hermon Hill, when the animals, that were a pair of skittish colts, became frightened at something, and started off at a furious pace. The shied into a fence on the way, and the shock of the collision threw the driver out; he was struck and knocked down by the pole, and dragged some distance in the road; both wheels passed over him. Mr. Carter was carried home, and attended to; it did not appear that any bones were broken, but it was thought that he was injured internally.

ANYTHING BUT "AMUSING." A rum-made maniac yesterday afternoon imperilled the lives of pedestrians and endangered passing vehicles by driving a poor old horse, attached to a soap cart, at a breack-neck pace. The police gave chase, going in different directions to head him off. He finally fell into the clutches of Officer Mayville, who held him until the officers came up, when he was laid like a sturgeon in the bottom of his cart and driven to Marshal Reed's reception rooms. The unfortunate man, whose name we withhold, was thrust into a cell, with the parting injunction, Now, James Keefe quiet.

Educational Reforms Affecting the Ungraded Schools of the State.

State Superintendent of Schools Luce is about to inaugurate two important educational reforms affecting the ungraded schools of the State. He has in preparation, and will soon send out to the school committees of the several towns, a circular urging a more uniform, certain and searching examination of teachers, and suggesting a more careful supervision of the schools, in the line of mapping out, at the beginning of the terms, a definite plan of work, or course of study for each term, upon which the pupils shall be carefully examined at the close. He will accompany the circulars with lists of examination questions which he will advise committees to make the basis upon which certificates shall be issued, and will request them to make returns to him of the names of all the teachers certified and the ranks attained in the several branches of study. As suggestive of the course of study to be fixed, he will also send out a paper lately prepared by a committee of the Maine Pedagogical Society, giving the general outlines of the work which the ungraded schools ought to do, together with programmes for daily work, and suggestions of practical value to teachers and committees.

AMUSEMENTS.

Lawrence Barrett as "Richelieu."

A very large, appreciative and fashionable audience greeted Lawrence Barrett at Norombega Hall, last evening. The eminent actor's impersonation of the Cardinal in Bulwer's standard drama of "Richelieu" was such as to fully meet the exalted expectations of the audience. His grand and perfect conception of the character he assumes—the merging into it his own individuality—his wonderful simulation of the weakness of age sustained, and upheld by an iron will and intense determination,—are the secrets of Mr. Barrett's most effective personation of the principal character in this grand and ever popular old tragical drama. At times the audience were held in almost breathless suspense, apparently oblivious to the fact that they were but witnessing a reflex of the intrigues and plots and counterplots which transpired in the Court of France toward the close of the ministry of Cardinal Richelieu, and which have been enhanced and made poetical by the imaginative mind of Bulwer. Especially did the audience seem spell-bound during the scene where the King is implored to spare the life of Mauprat, the lover of the Cardinal's ward, and in the scene where the treachery of the Count de Baradas is unfolded. Inexpressibly grand was Barrett when as the Cardinal he drew around the hunted bride of Mauprat the protecting circle of the Church of Rome and hurled its awful curse upon the head of him who should step within its bounds. Mr. Barrett was repeatedly applauded, but in no case more hearty than at the close of this scene.

It would be easy to criticise the support, which in some respects was weak. Mr. Louis James as Adrian de Mauprat, was very good indeed, seeming to intelligently comprehend the character he personated, and giving to it a grace and dignity in refreshing contrast to the overacting of some we have seen who have essayed the part. Mr. Bock, as the scheming and treacherous Count, was very acceptable, yet we could not but feel that he was inclined to display his energy at the wrong moment—to make too little of some passages and too much of others. Miss Marie Wainwright as Julie de Mortimer, was pleasing, but not powerful. But let it not be deemed by the reader that the presentation of "Richelieu" last evening, as a whole, was other than worthy of our warmest commendations.

SOL SMITH RUSSELL.

Tickets for next Monday evening's representation of "Edgewood Folks" by the favorite comedian, Sol Smith Russell, and company, will be ready at Bugbee's this morning. An evening of genuine, refined fun, may be expected. The N. Y. Dramatic News says:

At the Park, as we predicted, Sol Smith Russell's "Edgewood Folks" is having a deserved and pronounced success. In portraying a certain class of humorous characters, Mr. Russell has no superior on the American stage, and to his credit it must be asserted that he never allows an impure word or suggestion to mar the fine quality of his work. Mr. Abbey is to be congratulated on the successful opening of his season by this admirable company.

"MAZEPPA."

Notice is given elsewhere that Miss Maude Forrester, "Brittania's Equestrian Queen," will appear in Norombega Hall on next Tuesday evening as "Mazeppa," in the dramatization of Byron's poem. Miss Forrester will be supported by a strong dramatic company and brings her trained horse "Lightning." We take the following from the Boston Globe of April 5th:

The great success which has attended the production of "Mazeppa" at the Novelty during the past week, influenced the management to prolong the stay of Miss Forrester's combination for another week. Those who have witnessed the performance of Miss Forrester, admit in the strongest terms without exception that her interpretation of the lines of the immortal Byron is very fine. The attendance last evening was in every sense a satisfactory one, a large and enthusiastic audience being present, which showed by its frequent plaudits its appreciation of the performance. Miss Forrester's broad sword combat with E. H. Lay is worthy of special mention for excellence. It is needless to predict a continuation of crowded houses at the Novelty during the remainder of Miss Forrester's sojourn, as this is a certainty.

"GOT ANY ADVERTISING CARDS!"

The Latest Phase of Insanity.

A year or two ago Mark Twain, in his delicious style, regaled the readers of the "Atlantic" with an account of various kinds of insanity which periodically attack people. In a racy way he portrayed the agonies of book collecting, coin collecting, button collecting, postage stamp collecting, and finally made the madness culminate in an old chap who collected echoes. The last and most fatal form of the disease consists in getting all the advertising cards that it is possible to secure. Its attacks are not confined to children, but grown men and women are alike victims. The fever is comparatively in its infancy in this vicinity, but in Massachusetts and the West it is raging with the fury of a tempest. It began by children collecting common business cards. Then some enterprising dealers added devices to their cards and they took like wildfire. From this, cards have improved in design and finish until now they are real gems of art, in gold, silver, and high colors. Traders are so bored by children asking for these cards that when one enters a store the man anticipates the inquiry and roughly says "no cards," if he does not eject them by force. The business is now largely conducted through the mails, the colums of the daily papers informing collectors where they can send for large and handsome lots by enclosing postage stamps. Some firms in Boston receive as many as 1000 letters daily for cards, and some enthusiastic collectors have sent to Europe for specimens. Other dealers, with an eye to business, have manufactured albums to hold these cards. But even the album is being superseded by the scrap book, and now nearly every centre table in Bangor is graced with one of these attractive features. In this city enthusiastic young ladies have collected quantities that may be numbered by the thousands. In Massachusetts a five thousand collection is common. Commercial travellers make it a point to get some from every city visited, and send home to swell their sister's collection. Some prefer plain cards and others like the printed ones. One firm in Boston has sold over ten thousand dollars worth and is still filling orders.

These Pills have met with the most Remarkable Success as is attested by the Immense Sales they have Attained.

Parsons, Bangs & Co., have had Eighteen Hundred Dozens the Past Year.

Hundreds have testified to the Benefit they have derived from their use in the cure of Sick Headache, Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Nervousness, Paralysis, Sleeplessness and Indigestion.

It is a Fully Established Fact, Based on Actual Experience, and There is No Kind of Doubt but They Will Cure These Diseases.

DR. C. W. BENSON'S CELERY AND CHAMOMILE PILLS are prepared expressly to cure Sick Headache, Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Nervousness, Paralysis, Sleeplessness and Indigestion or Dyspepsia, and will cure any case, no matter how obstinate, if properly used. They are not a cure-all, but only for those special diseases. They contain no opium, morphine or quinine, and are not a purgative, but regulate the bowels and cures constipation by curing or removing the causes of it. They have a charming effect upon the skin, and a lovely, quieting effect upon the nervous system, simply by feeding its ten thousand hungry, yes, in some cases starving absorbants. They make or create nerve matter and give power, force and buoyancy to the nerves, and in that way increase mental force, endurance and brilliancy of mind. Nobody that has a nervous system should neglect to take them two or three months in each year, simply as a nerve-food, if for no other purpose. The SPRING TERM began THURSDAY, March 31st, 1881, and continues until Commencement. A new class is now entering. The students will be examined for admission to the regular courses of study, and to advanced standing, at the close of the College year.

Advantages in Entering the College at this Time.

Students who are not fully prepared to enter a regular course will be admitted without examination, and can pursue the study of such branches as will enable them to take a good standing in the first year's course. Others well advanced on entering, may be able, with special assistance from the Professors, to enter the second year's course in the Fall.

There will be a Beginners' Class in French or German, under the instruction of Prof. Grube, who has recently arrived from Europe.

In May and June special attention will be given to Surveying Field Work.

Expenses for Tuition, Uniform, Room-rent, Board, Fuel and Lights, for the above term of twelve weeks will be $100.

For further information, call on, or address the President.

COL. CHARLES H. LEWIS, LL.D., 4½ Sears' Building, Boston, Mass.

Or the Vice-President,

DR. C. L. HATHAWAY, 412 Columbus Avenue, Boston, Mass., or LEWIS COLLEGE, Northfield, Vermont.

Boston, April 4th, 1881.

Quotations from the Editorial Columns of the Press Respecting Lewis College.

"This institution, formerly the Norwich University, enters upon a new career of usefulness under its new name, and its Faculty, with Col. Charles H. Lewis at the head, will spare no pains to make it one of the best educational institutions in the Country."—Boston Journal.

"The Spring term is soon to commence, and an examination of the neatly printed catalogue, which is at hand, convinces us that superior advantages are there offered for youth to secure a thoroughly scientific and classical education, coupled with the advantages of military training, which as a method of discipline is found most salutary in its effects all through life, even if the recipient of its teaching holds always to the peaceful arts. The location is beautiful, the college well endowed with every appliance and educational means, a splendid corps of Professors and Lecturers are employed, and the institution seems in every way calculated to turn out a well educated, manly set of graduates at the completion of its course."—The Old Colony Memorial, Plymouth, Mass.

"The name of the Vermont Norwich University has long been familiar to the public as an educational institution possessing many excellent features, and at one time it was largely patronized by the citizens of Lowell, even to the extent of ten or a dozen young men from this city being enrolled there at the same time."—The Morning Mail, Lowell, Mass.

"It is destined to take a place in the front rank of progressive educational institutions."—The Dover Enquirer, Dover, N. H.

"One of the best known and most excellent scientific classical and military colleges in Northern New England is Lewis College, formerly Norwich University, located at Northfield, Vt."—Daily Mirror and American, Manchester, N. H.

"Col. Lewis has taken hold with a judgment and vim that bids well for the future of the institution that bears his name.—Argus and Patriot, Montpelier, Vt.

"It has a full force of able Professors, six courses of instruction, and ranks among the best educational institutions in the country. Its government is military, and the students are neatly uniformed."—The Northfield News, Northfield, Vt.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of, not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

☞ The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.
